“ Many nights I’ve sat around and laughed at these boys, Brandon, Cody, and Shane. Cody was quiet a lot of the time, but when he wasn’t he and his brothers were making us all laugh. He loved his kids and family and will be missed by so many. Much love and many prayers.

“ I remember when we were growing up and would get in trouble for something stupid, your mom would make us stand in the living room and hold our arms out for what seemed like hours until we finally had enough. Locking Shane in his room because the doorknob was backwards lol. You were the first person to take me snipe hunting when I was like 10, flashlight and paper sack at 2am, left me way out in the woods and laughed so hard when I came running back up to the house. I’ve got a million stories that I could tell, I’ll forever cherish each one of them. You were like my brother, and I still can’t wrap my head around it all. Watch over all of us down here, we love and miss you dearly. Until we meet again.

“ The best memory I have with Cody was when we went to the Trump rally in Dallas. No one else would stay in line with me all night and all day in the heat till 7 the next day to see Trump!! And we did. We both were a part of making history. We had a blast and Cody never met a stranger. He will be missed more than he will ever know. Prayers for his wife, kids, and family. Sorry for your loss.

“ Forever still wouldn't have been long enough with you. The loss and emptiness will never subside but will serve as a reminder of hard and deeply you loved and cared for us. You were my boulder and I was your rock now I'm nothing but a pebble. I am beyond grateful for the the time we shared together, the memories that will never fade, and the little family we created together. We miss you more and more every day, rest easy knowing that we will be seeing you again. I love you Cody.
