“ Cindy took care of my Mom, Elsie Saltz at Heritage Oaks West. She showed love, compassion, patience, and the ability to see past the disease to the person buried inside. She brought out the best my Mom had. She gave me strength to let her go when it was her time with dignity and me by her side.

Please accept my deepest sympathy for your loss.

“ I only met Cindy a few time but she left an impression of a loving and kind woman. I am sadden to hear of her passing. Though unselfshly believe she in God's loving arms where she will no no longer know any more sadness or pain as he has promised his children.

I pray the family will take much comfort in her memory. Cindy will be missed!

“ I worked with Cindy-we were in different departments at Westside-I did not know Cindy very long, but I loved her bubbly personality. It saddens me to know how much pain Cindy was in and to not be able to help her. As a nurse, we are fixers, problem solvers. We talked several times, the last time was more personal and in depth. She loved her daughters, and grandchildren, but she was caught in the middle of relationships that she loved, and just could not "fix" herself or her relationships with the ones she loved. I am so sorry for your loss of your mother/wife,grandmother,aunt,sister,etcGod bless and heal the relationships and the hearts of you, her family and let God the Father take on all of your burdens. His yoke is easy, his burdens are light. God Bless, Linda

“ I can't find the words to express my shock and sympathy at Cindy's death. I knew Cindy when she worked at Willis Real Estate when I was an active Realtor and worked at the Appraisal District. She was always such a pleasant person with a bubbly personality. She recently cared for my father-in-law at Heritage Oaks West. She was a very good nurse and such a caring person. May God send his comfort to all of you.

“ Audra,

Im so sorry for your loss doesnt seem adequate to express my feelings right now. Your mother was truely a blessing. Often times the family doesn't get to see what others get to see in a person, and that is sad. I wish your whole family could see the Cindy we all got to see, know and love. I know yall have had it rough for some time now, but it still doesn't seem to take the sting out of missing her. I am a firm believer that when we are called home, we will get to see those that have gone before us, so this doesn't have to be good bye, it can be see ya soon. That may not be how it really works, but thats what I have to believe.

Your mother brought so much comfort, patience, love and caring to her patients, I wish all nurses could have had the pleasure of working with your mother, she would have made a lasting impression on them as she did me.

The next part of your journey is going to be a hard one. Some days you not only have to take it a day at a time, but a min at a time... If there is every anything I can do, you know how to get a hold of me.

*"Blessed are those that mourn, for they shall be comforted."
Matthew 5:4*

“ One afternoon last spring, I was sitting in an office at Heritage Oaks West admitting my father (who was sitting next to me). I was crying and thinking that I had somehow let him down because I couldn't stay home to care for him. As I cried & told my dad that he could come home with me & we could leave right then, this nurse saw me crying & "ran" into the office & consoled me. That nurse was Cynthia & I will not forget her.
