He faced each challenge with grace, and his unwavering faith brought him comfort during the most difficult of times. While we will miss him dearly, we find peace knowing that Ed was ready to be with our Lord.

Ed's legacy will live on through the memories and love he shared with those fortunate enough to know him. His presence will be greatly missed, but his spirit will remain in the hearts of his family and friends.

“ I always remember uncle Ed's plate piled high when we had family get together. Man could that guy eat! He would also always talk to me about golf. He didn't really play but enjoyed watching it. He knew I like to play and would always talk to me about it. I will sure miss Edwin. What a great guy he was.
