“ We grew up as kids in the white briccs aka The Projects...South Park...Eastside Can, TX...always knowing each other as cousins on our mom's side. Around 2017 or 2018, our connection only became stronger when we were hanging out at pops house when you had shared with me what you'd learned about us being brothers! It was one of those moments that I'll never forget lil bro. Before that shared moment, we'd always been family & became even more special having you as ONE of my younger brothers! They always say that, the Lord works in mysterious ways & one is to never question a Lord's blessing. 😊 All I know is that, we will some day get to share many missed moments and make memories together as siblings & cousins but more importantly as family! The Lord has a brought a great one home & one day I'll be there with you! I love you bro! ❤️

“ My little brother, I'm happy God blessed me with your presence for the times I did have with you. Seeing you and talking to you and spending some of your last moments with you. I'm forever grateful, thankful and blessed that God allowed our paths to cross to build the bond we had. I will never forget you. My heart is always where you are. I love you and can't wait for us to meet again in the presence of our Heavenly Father! Missing you much.
