“ Jack was my best friend in high school. He had an infectious laugh with a keen sense of humor. He kept me in stitches. We had some interesting times together, from getting kicked off the football bus in the middle of nowhere for laughing, to a job he got us cleaning out an acre goat barn just tall enough for goats which left us tired, choking, but still laughing. Lou, with her sense of humor, was his perfect mate. Goodbye old friend.

“ I met Jack several years ago when he became one of our patients at Heartplace. I happen to be reading the paper and saw his obituary and I thought I would just let his family know that they will be in my thoughts and prayers.

“ Jack's obituary says he was a "sewing machine technician", but to me and many of my quilt friends he was so much more than that! Jack was someone who understood the hearts and minds of serious sewers and quilters. He understood when I told him I needed my machine fixed and I could not survive without it for more than a couple of days! He was meticulous in his work, and he always found whatever my problem was. He used to save whatever was clogging up my machine and give it to me in a little ziplock baggie! He had a sweet and gentle sense of humor, and I always enjoyed our visits when I would drop off or pick up my machine. If he talked too long, his wife would appear at the doorway to move things along. He was a wonderful man and I will miss him -
