“ Jason, i probably won't puilbsh WPJobBoard in WordPress plugin directory, for few reasons:- i would need to maintain two SVN repositories, one on WordPress server and one on my own- also i do not want to maintain two version of WPJobBoard it gets a bit messy after a whileAnother thing is that having only premium version allows me to focus on premium users who paid for the plugin and require first class technical support. On the other hand there are few WordPress plugins that i want to puilbsh as open source software, so while you will probably won't see WPJobBoard there you might see some other plugin from me.
