“ John was a great man and a good friend! He loved his family, friends, estate sales, football and music. He was always happy and enjoyed the simple things in life. I first met him through friends and had contracted him to help with data cabling in our office and other clients sites. He did quality work and took pride in everything he did. So detailed in his work. He drove that Chevy truck and keep it clean and looking good. How he loved his truck. I remember him telling me the tricks of how he kept it so clean. I was blessed to know John and cant wait to see him in Heaven. He will be at the pool table wearing his hat and his black shirt in the photo.

Bless you John and I will miss you brother!

“ I met John in 1980. I will never forgot that night. He came walking in with both of you and I leaned over to my friend and commented about how handsome he was. He ended up picking a booth next to us and that's how our friendship began. We dated some that year, but best and most of all we were just friends. I contacted him a couple of years ago and he stopped by where I was working and took me out at lunch. Then later I went to his apartment in Plano to visit him. I was so surprised when he went into another room and brought out a plaque I gave him in 1980 with a saying by Helen Keller. I was so surprised he still had it. It said “The best and most beautiful things in the world cannot be seen or even touched -they must be felt with the heart”. I was so honored that he kept it all these years. Anyone that ever knew John knew his priorities in his life were his girls and always would be. Always remember you still are and he is still watching over you. You won't be able to see him but will 'feel him in your heart'. I wish I had gotten to see him again. You may remember his two friends Phyllis and Theresa. Theresa was the friend with me that night. We are both praying for you. You contact me on Facebook if you ever want to. Phyllis Farquhar Smith

“ Junior, my dear 'Country Cousin', The early years of our visits to the farm in Corsicana by your two 'City Slicker' cousins from Ft. Worth were so memorable and fun! I can see you smile and laugh when I mention these thoughts, do you remember:

*Justin Wilson ... umm, I G-u-a-r-a-n-t-e-e *Listening to the guitar instrumental LP called 'Honky Tonk' *Watching you and Lewis ride in on those huge horses *Jumping together in the bales of hay in the barn *Sitting together to dine on homemade tortillas made by your mom, Aunt Juanita, and the delicious and plentiful harvested vegetables and food. In later years, *admiring your huge pick up trucks to show us on Ft. Worth visits *The Ft. Worth Fat Stock Show visit together *Times when you brought Tressa and Anessa to visit us as little girls and as pre-teenagers, you were so proud *Ah, can I call you back 'cause I'm watching Judge Judy *The few times we would meet for lunch when both of us worked in Plano *Last but not least, your phone calls saying 'hey', I thought you might be interested in what I saw at estate sales near us in Richardson. Junior, we cherish the 'special train whistle' you dropped off that you found and we display it proudly on Sam's HO train display, we play it occasionally and we get a lump in our throat but it only enhances the display. *If there is such a thing as the Best Estate Sale in Heaven, we know you are so happy.

Rest in Peace dear Cuz,

We miss you and Love you and our condolences to Lewis, Joe, and Isabelle too, ❤️

“ Back in the day, I met John Jr at one of our local hamburger joints. He was driving a blue Malibu with black interior and a 3 shift transmission under the steering wheel. He was quite the gentleman and he was so very handsome. I am deeply sorry tonight he has passed away. Vicky Rogers Prater
