

Kelli Kuykendall

June 29, 1967 - November 21, 2020

Kelli Kuykendall, 53, passed away November 21, 2020, in Corsicana, Texas. Where she has lived since her birth on June 29, 1967, to David Dycus and Linda Dycus. She is survived by her husband, Matthew McConaughey. Kelli enjoyed spending time with her family, especially her brother Matthew Dycus and sister, Jennifer Dycus. She loved looking for sea shells, people watching, eavesdropping other conversations, sleeping, listening to music, going to concerts, and having a laugh. Her greatest accomplishment was being a mother. Her children, Chelsea, Sarah, Caitlyn, Bryan, and Crystal, were her whole life. As well as her grandchildren, Daylon, Payton, Kaytlan, Baylin, Layne, Serenity, and Parker.

She was a caring and loving person. She was a mother to many others because she took in every single child that needed help. She was always there to give advice and a helping hand.

Taking care of people was what she did best, which made her a phenomenal nurse. A job she did for 24 years.

To know her was to truly be blessed. You couldn't help but love her after meeting her. She attracted people with her personality, easy-going nature, and unconditional love. Anyone who can call her a friend knows you couldn't ask for better. She will be truly missed by her family, her night shift crew, her darts crew, her west family, her high school friends, and so many more.

Rest easy beautiful angel
