“ Oh how I wish you could read these comments, but God. I will always remember us laughing at the things we both said. You were the cool/crazy aunt like uncle Raymond was the cool/crazy uncle. lol Even though you lived far away, when I would talk to you on the phone it felt like you were right across the street. I looked forward to your visits because I knew it would be a good time full of laughter. These bodies of ours just cant take some things and I wouldn't wish you here to suffer, so R.I.P. auntie. Don't be up there clowning. lol

I can't believe she's gone. My heart is so heavy. We always had wonderful times together. She could make me laugh anytime. We would talk about everything. I remember when my son (Derrick) was a baby, he didn't know which one of us was his mama. He would cry to follow her. That's how close we was. She named my son and I named hers. I'm gonna miss those phone calls we had weekly. I was blessed to have her in my life. My sister, my buddy, my friend. I LOVE myself some Vera. RIP.
