“ Rosemary,

You have lost the dearest mother a person can have, and I have lost the most elegant lady I have ever been honored to care for as a doctor. She taught me several things-how to offer criticism without hurting a person's feelings and how to live into your nineties with a brain as sharp as a tack. She was always in control regardless of the challenges she faced. I will honestly miss her. Next time I see you, I absolutely have to know her reaction when Jim asked for your hand in marriage.

“ I have known Maisie since moving to Corsicana in 1985; we met at the Kinsloe House where we enjoyed playing Bridge together. She was an amazing woman who always enjoyed a keen sense of humor.

She was the epitome of the word "lady" and she will be missed by all who knew her!

“ It is almost impossible to go back to Saint Louis, Oklahoma and not think of a former resident and teacher, Mrs. Morphew. She was very respected by the people that were her friends and neighbors that lived there at the same time that she did. She is probably the favorite teacher of her former students. She was a great woman and will be truly missed by her family and friends. God bless the family.
