“ Newell Allison Moore Jr.

“ Newell was a good man. He would do anything for anybody and expect nothing in return. When I was eighteen he provided me with room and board. I would try to pay him monthly and he would have me place the money in a jar. When I left for the the service he gave me back the contents of the jar. I'll miss Newell. I wish I had spent more time with him recently, but I will cherish the memories we had as "roommates".

“ I had the pleasure of working with Newell in Mexia for Brookshire's Grocery/Pharmacy from 2001 to when it sadly closed in March of 2011. Newell was a hard worker and respectful to all customers. A talent that Newell had was the ability to tell stories of his past. So many come to mind over the last couple days. I remember the stories he told of getting his history lessons while sitting on sacks of feed listening to 'Old Timers" in the general store on Saturdays in Lindsay, Oklahoma. The story of the old car he and his buddies would push start to go to Oklahoma City on Saturday night to go to a dance/movie comes to mind, Working nights and going to school the next day during his time as a pharmacy school student to help with school and family expenses. The best one was how he and his wife didn't have money for a baby sitter so they took at that time their small babies and took them along to the picture show for some family time during his time in school. For him to tell those stories I felt as if I was there. I am a better person for having known Newell. I miss but will never forget him. Ryan Hogan

“ I remember hearing the same story over and over again about the boats when he worked in Houston while working with him at Pharmacy Plus. He will be greatly missed.

“ When I worked with him at Pharmacy Plus, we would change the satellite radio to hip hop music, he loved it, the younger girls would look at us like we were nuts, he would just laugh and tell them they did not know good music. He will be truly missed by us. Prayers of comfort. Corie La Bay
