“ Rino,
You will truly be missed by your Walgreens family. You were a hard worker. It was an honor and privilege knowing and working with you for 15 years.

“ Rest in peace cousin, I am sad that we didn't spend much time together. You left home when I was a baby, we met the very first time last year, and I liked your sense of humor. You reminded me about our brother Cajetano who left us before you three years ago. I was very blissed when we met, and talked, ending with an introduction to my niece Dity your sweet daughter. But the happiest thing for me is- you are saved, because you had the last rite administered to you by the priest.

Pray for me with all the saints up there, and rest in peace till we meet again.

Love you.

I was passing by the cemetery today as the funeral procession made its way to the area where this man was to be buried. It did my heart good to see so many come out to honor this man. Traffic stopped on both sides of FM255 to allow all the cars to enter the cemetery. It had been a long time since I had seen such an honor, that "back in the day" used to be common place when the funeral procession was going to the cemetery. Many people parked their cars quite a ways from the burial site and walked in. I think that was another way to honor Mr. Sandy. I had already read the many positive comments made about this man on this website. When we see things like this, we can only wish that we had known him ourselves, which I certainly did not. and it was my loss, for sure. Thanks to all the people who paid him honor today. It was a refreshing thing to see.
