“ Tim Miles was a super guy who would do what he said he would do and always with a smile. Sharp as a tack in appearance, demeanor, and making his customers happy, to being a whiz with a camera and a computer. He could take pictures of his units at Texas Auto Group and post them on e-bay that would look like a spread for a magazine. I watched him work that auto sales lot for eight years. His illness would take him away for a while, but as soon as he was dismissed from the hospital, he would come straight back to it. He dearly loved that place. The way he and his employees handled the business and his illness at the same time was amazing. He just kept on going and going. To me, Tim Miles was a Hero. God Bless him and his family... Prayers to all.
