What a beautiful tribute. These photographs are wonderful. I wish I could have been there with you all at the service today in person, but I can no longer travel very far from home here in Virginia. Just know my heart was there with the family and that I will miss talking with Wayne from time to time. I send my sincerest condolences to each of you. With much love, cousin, Elizabeth (Liz) McManus-Porter

Since 2nd Grade, I've called Wayne my friend. Much history between us. Can still hear his voice (he could sing!). Enjoyed being part of his band "Shaker". Weekends at Galveston beach (Hi, Cindy!). Watching Star Trek. Meals at Taco Bell. Seeing him for the last time, too long ago. He was unique, one exceptional individual. 😭😞😞

“ He was my best friend. Always will be. He was a mental and physical example of strength. I can't imagine him having even one 'enemy', because he lived his life as a Christian. He was courageous, imaginative, genuine, and driven. He wasn't afraid of difficulty or hard work. He could play beautiful music on guitar. He had a genius' eye for photography. I cared for him as much as anyone I know.

“ Wayne and I are cousins. He was a couple of years older than me. His Father, George, and my grandmother, Juanita, were siblings. I always enjoyed visiting with Wayne at our annual Family Reunion which was always the second weekend in June. I sometimes got to see him around the holidays for Thanksgiving or Christmas time. My favorite memory of Wayne is his beautiful hair which he wore pulled back with a rubber band and that he always brought his guitar when he visited. He'd play guitar with my dad, who also played guitar, sometimes, but mostly Wayne enjoyed playing for the kids. The kids loved to gather round him. Wayne enjoyed letting the children strum his guitar and he would show them how to play a chord or two. He was laid back and I enjoyed that about him. Wayne called me out of the blue last year while he was recovering from an injury in rehab. We talked for a long while and caught up with our lives. We spoke twice while he was there. It was good catching up and hearing how he and the family were doing. It was nice to hear his voice, comforting, like an old friend's voice that settles you and feels connected to your heart. I will surely miss him and wish I had a chance to hang out and catch up with him again. I like to believe we'll get that chance again one day. I've posted a few photos of Wayne from our Family Reunions long ago now.

“ Jack and I worked with Wayne on many remodel jobs. He was a good man. Hard worker and skilled carpenter. It was always a pleasure to be around him. Heaven got another good one!
